Background

Recognizing the urgent need to support the developing country (ISA members) with high potential for solar technology deployment, the ISA Assembly agreed to establish an international network of STAR C (Solar technology Application Resource Centre). The overarching objective of the STAR C initiative is to provide solar technology and application resourcing services to Member Countries so that these countries can achieve the ISA's vision of scaled up and accelerated large scale deployment of solar energy to meet the respective countries' priority energy access, energy transformation and energy security.

ISA aims to a have number of STAR centres across the globe acting as a shared facility that provides capacity for deployment of solar energy applications and research, business modelling, incubation, training, standardization and testing engaging faculty members from different disciplines/ institutes of excellence and provide/use shared facilities, labs, testing centres etc.

To have accelerated impact, ISA aims to strengthen the existing regional and national level infrastructure, mainly institutes, training centre and facilities performing one or more functions. ISA member countries can build upon the existing institutes or set up new institution as a STAR- Centre. Several institutions in the same region, each covering one or more activities of the STAR-C programme, can qualify as STAR-C.

National centres undertaking research on innovative solar technologies and/or providing technical training aiming at empowering policy makers, engineers, project developers, training trainers. These centres could be research and innovation centre, national universities, test centres, national training institutions, R&D centres, vocational training centres etc. They could be performing one or more functions on thermal and photovoltaic solar energy, about assisting academic trainees, policy-makers, industry and end users.

ISA will play the role of facilitator and will support the institutes awarded STAR-C by means of:

STAR Centre Management

 ISA can provide financial support for a coordinator undertaking coordination, partnership building with public and private sector and managing resources/trainings of the centre. The financial support will be for one year, ensuring sustainability through the centre.

Trainings and Skill Enhancement

- Material support: ISA can provide training materials to the institutions for capacity building of master trainers and trainees. ISA will also connect the institutes with the industry organizations and foundations, which can support by providing training equipment, lab infrastructure, training modules, etc.
- Training infrastructure: ISA can provide support in setting up the Technical and Practical labs (PV and Thermal Benches with equipment, instruments and tools).
- Testing
  - ISA can provide technical and financial support for setting up infrastructure for testing of the solar energy technologies and components such as modules, inverters and solar pumps etc. meeting the relevant international and/or national standards.
- Knowledge or expertise centre

 ISA can provide infrastructure for setting up a database which will provide renewable energy data, analytical tools, and technical assistance to developers, policymakers, and decision makers. This will have extensive collection of renewable energy resource data, maps, and tools

Innovation

 ISA can provide technical support in setting up a platform for building a stronger entrepreneurial ecosystem - taking research from lab to market, addressing the country specific problems through research and development on technologies and solutions and leveraging funding for setting up the business and then capital for scaling the business.

Guidelines and Standards:

 ISA can provide technical and financial support for drawing standards of products and services related to all solar PV, solar thermal and end-use applications derived from these solar technologies. These standards will be based on the relevant international standards and standards developed by country's standards body.

ISA in partnership with Government of Ethiopia, Cuba and Kiribati has agreed to setup a Solar Technology Application Resource Centre (STAR-C) in the three countries at designated institutions (Addis Ababa University in Ethiopia, Institute of Technology in Cuba and Kiribati Institute of Technology in Kiribati).
